

THAMES VALLEY POLICE

Thames Valley Police contacted Safetell to provide a new and versatile solution at Cowley police station.

Limited space meant that traditional methods of segregating visitors could not be achieved without major construction. Safetell proposed a combination of FlexiGlaze UG fixed glazing and modular, split-level counterwork to provide a secure working environment for staff and a confidential area for visitors. The use of existing products combined with the development and integration of new parts resulted in a cost effective proposal.

After consultation and review the final design was agreed and implementation is scheduled for December 2008.
